In pictures: 1,000 days of war in Ukraine

People wait in a traffic jam as they leave the city of Kharkiv, February 24, 2022. REUTERS/Antonio Bronic

Servicemen of the Ukrainian National Guard take positions in central Kyiv as Russian forces advanced toward the capital, February 25, 2022. REUTERS/Gleb Garanich

Smoke and flames rise over during the shelling near Kyiv, February 26, 2022. REUTERS/Gleb Garanich

People take cover as an air-raid siren sounds, near an apartment building damaged by recent shelling in Kyiv, February 26, 2022. REUTERS/Gleb Garanich

Ukrainian servicemen walk by a damaged vehicle, at the site of fighting with Russian troops, in Kyiv, February 26, 2022. REUTERS/Valentyn Ogirenko

A civilian trains to throw Molotov cocktails to defend the city, in Zhytomyr, Ukraine, March 1, 2022. REUTERS/Viacheslav Ratynskyi

Local residents look for cover as they escape from the town of Irpin, after heavy shelling on the only escape route used by locals, while Russian troops advance towards the capital of Kyiv, in Irpin, near Kyiv, Ukraine March 6, 2022. REUTERS/Carlos Barria

Olga hugs her boyfriend Vlodomyr as they say goodbye prior to Vlodomyr’s deployment closer to the front line, at the train station in Lviv, Ukraine, March 9, 2022. REUTERS/Kai Pfaffenbach

A Ukrainian soldier hides from a helicopter airstrike near Demydiv, Ukraine, March 10, 2022. REUTERS/Maksim Levin

Ukrainian soldiers walk past a monument of the city founder

Duke de Richelieu, covered with sand bags for protection in Odessa, Ukraine, March 10, 2022. REUTERS/Alexandros Avramidis

A man walks past a fire after a shelling in Kharkiv, Ukraine March 25, 2022. REUTERS/Oleg Pereverzev

Ukrainian servicemen pose for a picture near a destroyed bridge in the town of Irpin outside Kyiv, April 1, 2022. REUTERS/Gleb Garanich

A soldier takes a photograph of his comrade as he poses beside a destroyed Russian tank and armored vehicles, in Bucha, in Kyiv region, Ukraine, April 2, 2022. REUTERS/Zohra Bensemra

A body with hands bound by white cloth, who according to residents was shot by Russian soldiers, lies on the street in Bucha, Ukraine, April 3, 2022. REUTERS/Zohra Bensemra

Image Credit: REUTERS